Wanaka woman wows Hong Kong

Two garments made by Wanaka designer Andi Regan will be on show in Hong Kong this month as part of the first international World of Wearable Art performance. Andi's Neptune's Necklace and Pohutukawa Princess were both in the 2011 show in Wellington and were bought for the permanent collection owned by the WOW museum in Nelson. WOW is taking 100 costumes to Hong Kong so Andi is thrilled to have two chosen.

"The show is designed to showcase the best of the best so it's great to be selected," she said. Andi got an honourable mention in last year's show. This year she plans to enter the Bizarre Bra section of the Wellington show and "I'm going to try and win" the following year (2013).

Andi is yet to enter the Wanaka wearable arts show. "The costumes take five or six months work so I haven't had enough time," she said.
